The papers are scientifically evaluated by reputed external reviewers highly specialised in their respective fields.

Bahrain Polytechnic students, Zahra Isa Al Oraibi and Henna Abdul Latif Ishaque Ansari secured positions in a summer internship programme by Servcorp Bahrain. The summer internship, a collaboration between the two organisations, will provide the students critical insight into aspects of market research, business development, marketing strategy and sales. Speaking on the significance of the programme, Servcorp General Manager Laudy Lahdo stated, "We commit to our social responsibility of developing the new generation of Bahrain by providing such progressive platforms." The Dean of Polytechnic Business School added, "Our emphasis is on the development of the business leaders of tomorrow, and by partnering with reputable companies like Servcorp in such projects, we move a step forward."
