

Study without desire spoils the memory, and it retains nothing that it takes in

- Leonardo da Vinci

CAMPUS

Campus@dt.bh

Thursday, December 31, 2015

21

Bahrain Polytechnic, T-Linx join hands

Bahrain Polytechnic signed a memorandum of understanding with T-Linx Technology Solutions Architects, a Bahrain-based technology consulting firm, at the Polytechnic campus.

Fourth and final year students will have the opportunity to gain practical training and gain expertise in the field of digital solutions, and will have the opportunity to apply the knowledge and skills they have acquired during their studies.

The agreement will allow exchange of knowledge, experiences, and ideas for students to create projects. Students will also be able to work at the firm as full or part time. Additionally, the Polytechnic and T-Linx will collaborate together to conduct research projects in the field of technology.

Dr. Mohamed Al Aseeri, Acting CEO of Bahrain Polytechnic, stated: "The practical experience will help our students since it will enable them to be prepared for the job market. The Polytechnic are constantly working on preparing its students through the problem-based learning approach, as they apply their knowledge while working in local and international companies in Bahrain. This will make them work-ready upon graduation.

"We are delighted with this signing [with T-Linx], as it opens doors for more training opportunities for our students as per the requirements of the labour market. This will contribute in an increased national competency standard, allowing Bahrainis to have more expertise in various fields. This is certainly a step towards meeting our strategic plan 2015-2019, Bahrain's 2030 Vision and government action plan 2015-2018." concluded the Acting CEO.

Commenting on the MOU, the CEO of T-Linx, Waleed Khalaf stated: "We are very excited about this collaboration with The Polytechnic, as we believe it compliments our efforts to bring in new technologies to Bahrain and enable young Bahraini graduates to gain knowledge and practical experience of such niche applications."

During the deal signing ceremony

What is IELTS?

IELTS is the International English Language Testing System which tests English proficiency across the globe. Conducting 2 million tests in the past year, IELTS is the world's most popular high stakes English-language test for study, work and migration.

Which organisations accept IELTS?

IELTS is accepted by more than 9,000 organisations worldwide. These include universities, immigration departments, government agencies, professional bodies and multinational companies. To search for a recognising institution, use the IELTS Global Recognition System.

Who owns IELTS and who writes the test?

IELTS is jointly owned by British Council, IDP: IELTS Australia and Cambridge English Language Assessment and offered through more than 1,100 test centres and locations in over 140 countries. International teams of writers contribute to IELTS test materials. Ongoing research ensures that IELTS remains fair and unbiased. Test writers from different English-speaking countries develop IELTS content so it reflects real-life situations.

Why are there two versions of the test?

IELTS has two versions – Academic and General Training. The Academic test is for those who want to study at a tertiary level in an English-speaking country. The General Training test is for those who want to do work experience or training programmes, secondary school or migrate to an English-speaking country. All candidates take the same Listening and Speaking tests but different Reading and Writing tests.

Which version should I do?

Read the explanation of the Academic and General Training tests, then contact the organisation or institution to which you are applying to find out what it requires. Note that you must know which version to take when you complete the IELTS Application Form.

What is the test format and how long will it take?

IELTS has four parts – Listening (30 minutes), Reading (60 minutes), Writing (60 minutes) and Speaking (11-14 minutes). The total test time is 2 hours and 45 minutes. The Listening, Reading and Writing tests are done in one sitting. The Speaking test may be on the same day or up to seven days before or after the other tests. Find out more and see a test sample.

How do I practise and prepare for my test?

The Official IELTS Practice Materials explains the test format in detail and gives you practice tests and answers. You can order your Official IELTS Practice Materials in one of two ways: place an order online or purchase through your local test centre.

What help is available for candidates with disabilities?

Test centres make every effort to cater for the special needs of candidates with disabilities. It is our aim for all candidates to be assessed fairly and objectively. If you have a special need, talk to your local test centre when registering. Centres may need three months to organise arrangements. Find out more: <http://www.ielts.org/>

IELTS is accepted by more than 9,000 organisations

IELTS has two versions – Academic and General Training

Zen Story Contest 3

The Zen stories have many meanings. Here's a Zen story. Read the story and send the meaning to win@dt.bh. Winner will get a gift certificate from JOZ Salon & SPA

Obsessed

Two travelling monks reached a river where they met a young woman. Wary of the current, she asked if they could carry her across. One of the monks hesitated, but the other quickly picked her up onto his shoulders, transported her across the water, and put her down on the other bank. She thanked him and departed.

As the monks continued on their way, the one was brooding and preoccupied. Unable to hold his silence, he spoke out. "Brother, our spiritual training teaches us to avoid any contact with women, but you picked that one up on your shoulders and carried her!" "Brother," the second monk replied, "I set her down on the other side, while you are still carrying her."

Last week's answer:

Live each moment of your life to the fullest

Winner is Vaishnav Malkani. Congratulations!

Representative picture